

Congratulations to Hannah Davis for winning 3rd Place in the Garden State Association of Christian School's Essay Contest!

Below is Hannah's Essay...

My Dream

If I could have one dream, it would be that people on earth could have a perfect world. There would be no robbing, murdering, or war. In places such as New York and Philadelphia, there would be no stealing and kidnapping. In places like Africa, there would be no world hunger. In a place like Iraq, there would be no war, and soldiers could be with their families. There would be no cursing or swearing to God, our Creator. Pictures of children being terribly abused would not be in the newspaper. People wouldn't hear the noise of gunshots, children's screams and yells, and fire burning up houses. Family members would be rejoicing together; siblings would not be having arguments, and parents would not be fighting. There would be no dying people in jail, and people would be getting closer to God. That is my dream.
